

About Chef Singh

Chef Gulshan Singh, "The Curry Queen" teaches you authentic Indian techniques so that you can do it at home and love the results. Plus you will learn more about the many Indian selections in the Buford Highway Farmers Market as Chef Singh takes you on an Indian foods tour and answers your many curiosities.

Chef Singh emphasizes cuisine and cultural insights from her native home of North India. Her dedication to fresh ingredients prepared from scratch will mesmerize you with rich flavors and aromas distinct to her diverse homeland. Emphasizing that food is woven into the culture, she introduces her students to the history of Indian cuisine's different flavors and spices.

Mrs. Singh is a popular instructor here at Buford Highway Farmers Market where all participants love her gentle but informative instruction. Originally from New Delhi, India, she holds a B.A. degree in Culinary Science from the University of Jaipur and has lived in Atlanta for the last 30 years.
